

WOMAN FALLS OUT OF WINDOW

Girl of Eight Holds Her Long Enough to Prevent Instant Death.

Miss Fannie Latrelle, a milliner, fell from the window of a vacant flat at No. 324 East Thirty-fourth street this afternoon and received injuries from which she will probably never recover.

A little girl of eight made a desperate effort to save Miss Latrelle from falling, and had assistance come sooner she might have succeeded. As it was the child narrowly averted being dragged to the pavement below.

The child was Mary Quinn, eight years old, the daughter of one of Miss Latrelle's neighbors.

Went to Call a Boy.

The young milliner lived with her sister Elizabeth on the fourth floor of the house. She had been feeling ill for over a day and this morning did not go to her work. Early in the afternoon she wanted a boy to go on an errand for her and went into the vacant flat on the same floor to signal one from the window. The little Quinn girl was with her.

She opened the window and at the same time called to one of a group of boys playing in the lot below. As she spoke she became dizzy and fell forward. More than half her body was out of the window and there she hung head downward screaming.

Quiet Near a Rescue.

Little Mammie had clutched the woman's dress as she fell and it was her strength that saved Miss Latrelle from what appeared to be instant death. The child screamed and Elizabeth Latrelle, the sister, came. Together they pulled the hanging woman back until safety seemed assured, when the child's waist parted and the woman dropped.

She fell feet downward, however, and the girl held her for a moment. The pavement forty feet below and lay unconscious until Dr. Hogan arrived from Bellevue Hospital. He found her left leg fractured and indications of severe internal injuries.

The girl, Mammie Quinn, was prostrated by the excitement and also received medical attendance. Miss Latrelle is twenty-five years old and very pretty.

GIRL KNOCKED OUT INSULTER.

Eighteen-Year-Old Millie Lane Punished Negro Who Tried to Hug Her.

With one blow of her fist Millie Lane, a pretty eighteen-year-old shopgirl, of No. 24 Schermerhorn street, Brooklyn, knocked down a negro who had tried to hug and kiss her.

Miss Lane works in one of the big department stores and was on her way to work. As she walked past Bond and Schermerhorn streets a huge negro rushed out and spoke to her. Thinking he had made a mistake and was trying to speak to some one else Miss Lane paid no attention to him. He spoke to her again, and attempted to throw his arms about her neck. Miss Lane dodged him and stepping back struck him full in the face with her fist. The negro staggered and fell to the street.

She then appealed to Frank Gough, who had stopped to see what was the matter.

"That man insulted me," she said. Gough, who is an amateur athlete, fell upon the negro and gave him a severe drubbing. He beat and kicked the negro almost into insensibility while Miss Lane stood by urging him on. When a great crowd had collected, Miss Lane and Mr. Gough left, as they did not want the notoriety of making a complaint against the man.

The negro, with his face bleeding and his clothes torn, clambered up from the pavement and skulked off into the crowd. Before a policeman arrived he had made his escape. The crowd which saw Miss Lane strike the negro and knock him down cheered her, and if Gough had not championed her there were scores of others willing to do so.

The negro had been standing at the corner of Bond and Schermerhorn streets for several hours and had attempted to hug and kiss the teeny young woman as they passed him on their way to work. All escaped by running except Miss Lane.

She is a petite brunette, not over five feet in height, and wears a No. 5-4 glove. She does not know how she managed to knock the man down. "I just struck him as hard as I could, and then some gentleman came along and gave him a good beating. I wish he had killed him."

The police have been furnished with a description of the negro and are on the lookout for him.

DR. WILSON'S DEATH SENTENCE LIFTED.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The life of Dr. Russell Wilson, of Ohio, who was captured by a revolutionist party in representations of Minister Cordero of that country. A cablegram was received at the State Department to-day from Chester Donaldson, United States Consul at Managua, Nicaragua, dated July 28, as follows:

"As a courtesy to the United States and sympathy with the mother of the President, I will commute Russell Wilson's death sentence."

WIFE TRIED TO SHOOT, HE SAYS.

Editor John I. Collins, of Rahway, Gets Warrant After a Quarrel with Her.

RAHWAY, N. J., July 28.—Mrs. Grace Collins was to-day arrested on a charge of attempting to shoot her husband, a fellow prisoner was George Giesel, who was arrested on another warrant obtained by John I. Collins.

Both prisoners and the complainant are well known. Collins has been the editor of a local paper for several years. Mrs. Collins is an attractive brunette, twenty-nine years old. They have two children, both boys, the oldest being seven years.

Giesel is twenty-three years old and is employed as a conductor on the trolley from Rahway to Elizabeth. It is alleged that his attentions to Mrs. Collins, while she was a passenger on his car and in other places, caused comment which finally came to the ears of Editor Collins.

There was a quarrel between Collins and his wife at their home last night and the outcome of it was that Editor Collins went to Justice Frazee and obtained warrants for the arrest of Mrs. Collins and young Giesel. He charged that Mrs. Collins, in a fit of rage, attempted to shoot him.

The defendants on being arraigned in court pleaded not guilty. Each was held under bail to await the action of the Union County Grand Jury at the October term of court.

The examination before Justice Frazee was private. Neither Collins, his wife, nor Giesel would make any statement. Mrs. Collins and Giesel merely said that the charges made by Collins were the result of jealousy, for which they had given no cause.

And What It Will Do at The Big Store Again To-Morrow.

It has become a rule to look for Surprises at The Big Store. The crowds who attended the sensational sale on Monday, June 30, will certainly never forget the "Surprises" they found and obtained. Another and still greater surprise is scheduled for Tuesday, July 29th.

July as a rule is a dull month in clothing circles. The Siegel Cooper Store has been not only "busy" but crowded with eager purchasers daily during the phenomenal sale that was closed with such enthusiasm last Friday.

There Must Be a Reason for such unusual activity, such animation in July, such selling. There is but one answer. The purchasing public realizes that every word printed in the Siegel Cooper advertisements "means what it states," that instead of disappointment, as in many cases, sensational bargains are on sale, —always—

Not One Has Escaped.
